

Sinclair Broadcasting's decisions as of late appear to be totally politically motivate. The program shows that support their political leanings while blocking other programming from their airwaves that might shed some light on another point of view.

Their actions are so transparent that I was shocked when they were allowed by the FCC to pull programming in the way that they did. However I actually was prepared to believe that they were going to simply air nothing with a political slant. Until this recent anti Kerry program came to light I thought there was no reason to complain. But now I can't remain silent. The FCC has relaxed it's rules to the detriment of the American Public. Time to revisit your policies.

Sinclair's actions show why we need to strengthen media ownership rules, not weaken them. They show why the license renewal process needs to involve more than a returned postcard.

Thank you.
